NEW STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

WILL BE A FINE LOOKING STRUCTURE—PLANS OF THE BUILDING.

About Other New School Buildings—The George Street School Well Along—The Grand Avenue Building Will be the Largest School Building in the City.

The new state normal school building being constructed at the corner of Howe and Oak streets is progressing rapidly, all the walls being up. The woodwork is being put in now, and a slate roof is also being put on. It is thought that the building will be completed by the first of January, 1896. Hartwell & Richards of Boston are the architects, and A. W. Burritt & Co. of Bridgeport have the contract for the construction of the entire building, but have let sub-contracts. The copper work on the cornice and elsewhere is being done by A. H. Buckingham of New Haven, who also has the contract for the gas fitting, which is being done for him by the New Haven Plumbing and Heating company.

The heating apparatus is being put in by the Franklin Heating company of Boston. The first floor will contain seven large rooms, consisting of lecture rooms, a lecture room, physical laboratory, two recitation rooms, a manual training room and a coat room. There is also a smaller room used for storage. A wide main corridor will extend to the Howe street entrance. Jutting back in the rear will be the boiler room.

Two flights of broad stairs will connect the several stories. On the second floor will be three class rooms, the principal's room, a teachers' room, and a reading room in which will be two stories of alcoves for books. A corridor of the same dimensions as the one on the first floor will also extend the length of the second floor. On the third floor will be three class rooms, a lecture room, a biological laboratory, a chemical laboratory, and two store rooms.

One classroom will be separated from the lecture room by a double rolling partition, so that when necessary the two rooms can be combined, making one large room seventy-two feet long and twenty-nine feet wide. The corridor on this floor will be three feet narrower than those of the two lower floors.

In the basement will be a manual training room, a lunch room, the janitor's room, the men's toilet room and a boiler room, while three rooms will be left unfinished for the present.

At each entrance there will be broad granite steps with granite buttresses at the side of each. The building is of brick and the brick work was done by J. D. Roberts, all the material being brought from New Hampshire.

The exterior will be decorated in terra cotta trimmings from the New Britain Terra Cotta company.

The slate roofing is being done by L. H. Knapp of Meriden. The interior is being finished up in white wood.

The iron work, such as iron girders and trusses, is being done by the Yale Safe and Lock company. The foreman of masons is D. R. Conklin of New York, and the foreman of carpenters is J. R. Giddings of this city.

The grounds of the building only occupy the corner between Oak and Howe streets. When completed the new structure will be an inspiring looking building and will add another to New Haven's fine educational institutions.

The new school building on George street near College is now well under way, the walls being put up part way. The joiner work is being done by David H. Clark and the mason work by John Hogan. It is expected the building will be completed in time for the spring term of 1896, when the Cedar street school will be closed and the teachers and pupils now there will be transferred to the new building. It is probable that the new school will be under the direction of Mr. Lewis, at present of Webster school, and if this is done a readjustment of districts may be necessary.

The George street school will be a regular grammar school and will have fourteen rooms, devoted to principal's office, recitation rooms and study rooms. In the basement, rear, will be two rooms devoted to kindergarten work.

L. W. Robinson is the architect. The Grand avenue school building is also progressing finely, and when completed will be the largest school building in the city. The walls are now nearly completed. This school will also be a grammar school. Work on the Winchester avenue addition is also being pushed forward rapidly, and the walls are now up to the third story.

Scarlet Fever at Middletown. Middletown, Aug. 12.—There is some alarm felt on account of the appearance of scarlet fever in this city. Since Baggage Master Knowles was stricken with the disease another case has developed on Main street. A child of John Downey, who lives in the Southmayd block, was taken down with the disease Saturday morning, although in a mild form.

Mr. Southmayd, who has two children in the same block, has temporarily moved out. Health Officer Ward is using every precaution to prevent the disease from spreading.

NEW TEACHER ENGAGED.

Harriet Burr Day of Unionville to Take Miss Rockwell's Place.

Meriden, Aug. 12.—The high school committee has engaged Miss Harriet Burr Day to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Edith M. Rockwell of New Haven.

Miss Day is a graduate of the Unionville high school in Smith College. She has taught three years in Braintree school, Bordenstown, N. J., and two years in a seminary at Cleveland, O. She comes very highly recommended.

THE BOILER BLEW UP.

Explosion Early Yesterday Morning at H. E. Hubbard's Joiner Shop—Engineer's Narrow Escape.

Meriden, Aug. 12.—The twenty-five horse power boiler at H. E. Hubbard's Center street stair-building shop blew up at 6:10 this morning and completely wrecked the room, the engineer, Ambrose Larchelle, escaping with a bad scare.

Box 112 was pulled and hose No. 2 and the truck company responded. Their services were not needed, as Foreman Calvin J. Hubbard had, with the shop hose, put out what little flames there were.

When the explosion took place it lifted Mr. Larchelle up five feet and then hurled him southward fifteen feet, where he landed on a pile of sawdust and shavings in the planing room.

There is only a short space between the boiler and the partition, and had the engineer not been tossed up through the door he would have undoubtedly been killed. The boiler, instead of blowing through the roof, blew downward, and the reaction caused it to bound some six inches in the air. When it again fell the boiler was completely wrecked.

Served in the Fifteenth C. V.

Benjamin W. Warner, who died Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kellogg in Meriden, of cancer, was buried in Walnut Grove cemetery Sunday afternoon, Rev. J. T. Pette officiating. Members of St. Elmo commandry, K. T., and the U. V. U., acted as bearers. Deceased was a house painter, learning his trade in Glastonbury. Years ago he was a manufacturer of water pails and tubs in Augusta, Ga., and Charleston, S. C. Owing to ill-health he returned to the north. The Meriden Journal says of him:

He served in the First Connecticut Volunteers under Captain, now Major Byxbee, and also in the Fifteenth C. V. During his almost forty years' painting in Meriden he had as many falls as a cat. In '61 he, with two other painters, fell safely off the Broad street Baptist church, the distance being eighty-seven feet. His Palace block fell in '71 broke his wrist and a Hanover street fall broke his ankle.

He had worked for all the leading painting contractors, was a bachelor, a member of St. Elmo commandry, K. T., and Lincoln command, U. V. U.

NORTH HAVEN.

Aug. 12.—Among the visitors to the pool on a recent Sunday were Mr. Nesbit and a friend, Mrs. Bostwick of New Haven.

Rev. A. M. Boulgourjoo, a native of Marash, Cilicia, Turkey, now of Woodbury, Conn., preached in the Congregational church on Sunday morning.

To-day, August 12, Frank L. Smith leaves home for the Adirondacks, to spend two weeks with his wife, who has been at the Blue Mountain hotel, Blue Mountain lake, N. Y., since May, and their many friends will be glad to hear of Mrs. Smith's improved health, although far from well.

Grange picnic at Pico park on Wednesday, the 14th.

Mrs. Will Leete is entertaining her cousin, Miss Childs of the historic old town of Deerfield, Mass. Also Mr. Ralph Childs of New York.

Miss Childs is a cultivated musician and affords much pleasure to her friends here by her fine musical ability.

A cocker spaniel dog, dark brown in color, was seen at the railroad station Saturday night without any owner. On Sunday morning the animal appeared at the house of C. W. Bradley, where he was kindly treated, and is there now awaiting the appearance of the owner.

H. P. Smith has engaged the grounds at Pico park for North Haven grange on Wednesday, August 14. Everything is arranged for a good time on that day.

Rev. Dr. S. D. Phelps.

The Ansonia Sentinel says: "Rev. Dr. Phelps of New Haven delivered two very able discourses in the Baptist church Sunday, the pastor, Rev. W. D. McKinney, being absent. Dr. Phelps is well advanced in years, but his preaching seems to have the same force and power that it always did. He was listened to with the closest attention at both services."
